FOREWORD

Every school has a store of tradition which, to its students and alumni, makes it the school—unique and irreplaceable in memory by any other. Woven into the Rutland High School legend is the Indian warrior, symbol of its athletic heroes. When and how this splendid figure became a part of R.H.S. lore is unknown and immaterial. All we know is that he is there, fierce and indomitable, and, when the crowd in the stands gives out with a ringing “Wah-hoo-wah,” the spirit for which Rutland High School is famous is once again renewed.

DEDICATION

Miss Carolyn Lee Allen

If devotion to her profession were the only criterion for selection, the Class of 1962 could not have dedicated its Talisman to a more worthy teacher. As a member of the language department, she has continually striven for high academic standards. Furthermore, her great social concern and desire to help others has found a rewarding outlet in the International Relatinos Club, whose cultural and humanitarian projects she has directed so well. This example of placing others before self has been an inspiration to students and faculty alike.

MAYNARD C. ROBINSON
PRINCIPAL

To the Class of 1962:

Once again it is my privilege to extend felicitations to a class about to be graduated from Rutland High School. You, the Class of 1962, are to be commended on the quality of your achievement throughout your undergraduate years at R.H.S. You have not been content to absorb passively that which the school has offered you, but have worked toward your goals with imagination and purpose. Your loyalty to your school and your desire to improve it have set a high standard for future classes to meet.

If, as adults, you continue to demonstrate your willingness to learn and to work hard; if you maintain your active interest in improving your society as it exists; and if you can remain loyal to your ideals and to this great country to which we all owe our allegiance, you will have brought real meaning to your lives.

As you leave R.H.S., you take with you the best wishes of your teachers and your principal.

Sincerely,

Maynard C. Robinson

Dr. Stafford clarifies a theme correction for James Salander in a college English IV class.

Mrs. Dillon, substituting for Mrs. Merusi, and her English II class seem to be distracted from the essay they are reading. Surely not by the photographer!

Pamela Maccabee illustrates a talk on the Elizabethan Period in Mrs. Hinchey's college English IV class.

Gloria Collins reads her theme to Mr. Wilkinson's English III class as the rest of the members prepare to offer criticisms.

Miss Buttles and students practice Spanish conversation while rest of class listens to a tape recording in the language laboratory.

A Problems of American Democracy class, taught by Miss Moran, evaluates charts and discusses the effects of consumer spending.

Mr. LePage and a French I class listen as Allen Clark illustrates a report with the French tricolor.

Students in one of Mr. Short's United States History classes are interrupted by the photographer while taking notes.

Students in Mr. Boyce's algebra II class look intently at the board.

Mr. Martin makes geometry sound so simple as he demonstrates a problem.

Biology students observe as Mr. Keefe describes a variety of specimens.

Mr. Martin demonstrates a ripple machine to a group of physics students.

Seniors watch a student demonstration in a chemistry class under the supervision of Mr. Sloan.

Mrs. Crowley looks over Karen Nelson's typing exercise.

"Now, is that clear?" asks Mr. McKerley after explaining a point in business law.

Some of Mr. Goshgarian's clerical practice students watch while Diane Barker shows how to use an adding machine.

Mrs. Sloan explains a fine point of clothing construction to a class in homemaking.

Members of a class in food preparation show their skill for Mrs. Sloan and a group of classmates.

An art class studies Miss Doane's instructions on the board before setting to work.

Mr. Doll explains the finishing of a cedar chest to a woodworking class.

Mr. Mainville emphasizes a point as he instructs a group in auto mechanics.

Boys in an electronics class learn about power supply from Mr. Czina.

The operation of an engine lathe engrosses a group in Mr. Hebert's machine shop course.

Mr. Miller inspects a post made by a metal shop student.

An interlude in a drafting class shows students intent on what Mr. Manchester is saying.

A warm autumn day is ideal for one of Mrs. Bartenstein's physical education classes to enjoy a game of soccer.

Mr. Daniel Kennedy, substituting for Mr. Rippon, explains basketball fundamentals to a boys' physical education class.

PRESIDENT'S MESSAGE

Struggles, failures, successes, and many varied experiences have accompanied us through our twelve academic years, and now our commencement is the achievement of our high school course.

As we complete an important milestone of life, we look eagerly and optimistically toward the future. The world is calling for intelligent and courageous leadership, and we are confident that the Class of 1962 can contribute intelligently and co-operatively to our complex society.

We must share a common pride in this achievement. We must not permit a fear of failure to deter us as we go to meet new struggles and new experiences. We must support our convictions and accept the mature responsibilities which society has destined for us.

In behalf of the Class of 1962, I wish to express sincere appreciation to all who have helped make this day a reality.

Hard work doesn't seem to bother the stage crew. Kneeling: John Griswold, Bert Ladd. Standing: Earl Turner, Tony Carrara, Nelson Hebert.

The Pleasure of His Company, a sparkling, sophisticated comedy, was presented by a competent cast of seniors before large and enthusiastic audiences on the evenings of November 16 and 17.

Directed by Mrs. Mildred Crowley and student assistant, Carol Chase, the play was the most financially successful ever presented at Rutland High School.

Excellent cast, all of the players interpreted their roles with just the right deft touch demanded by this contemporary comedy of manners.

Assisting with the production were Committee Chairmen Roberta Ford, Olof Johnson, Mary Blair, Margaret Fyles, Anthony Carrara, and Susan Looker; Script Girls Mary Townsend and Mary Loveland; and Production Manager Kendra Abernethy.

"You know, the minute I laid eyes on it, it reminded me of . . ."

"Now, Jim, he is her father!"

"You velly happy father home for wedding."

"When the preacher asks, 'Who gives this woman?' and everyone looks at me, I might easily say, 'Not guilty'."

Laureen Coutermarsh and Mrs. Doris Boucher interpret the difficult leading roles with professional skill.

AM AHL AND THE NIGHT VISITORS

Amahl and the Night Visitors, a contemporary opera by Gian Carlo Menotti, was Rutland High School's 1961 Christmas gift to the community.

Presented before an overflowing audience in the auditorium on December 14, it tells the story of a little crippled boy who is miraculously cured of his lameness when he offers his crutch as a gift to the Christ Child. Laureen Coutermarsh in the difficult role of Amahl sang and acted the part to perfection while Mrs. Doris Boucher as the Mother was convincing in the part of the stern yet loving parent. The roles of the three Magi were impressively sung by Richard Wilder, David Osgood, and Robert Anderson. Paul Shambo was a colorful page.

Amahl's mother is caught stealing the purse of gold.

Country folk bring food for the Wise Men.

Shepherds prepare to dance in honor of the Wise Men.

Visitors gaze in wonder at the miracle wrought on Amahl.

Front row, left to right: Brian Burke, President; Martha Vincent, Treasurer; Pete Schill, Secretary. Second row: M. Traver, L. Valente, S. Carrara, C. Onion, K. Kurdeka, P. Canary. Third row: G. Williams, J. Buzzell, D. MacDonald, L. Kurdeka, D. Dashner, R. Hance, J. Savage. Fourth row: N. Reed, J. Braley, D. Carbine, C. Shortle, D. Gould. Fifth row: J. Mitchell, Mr. George Sloan, Adviser; R. Bender, H. Pulling, D. Wright, J. Salander, R. Eaton. Absent from picture, W. Patten, Vice-President.

Busy candy salesmen at the auditorium door every day after school and eagle-eyed inspection teams appearing at unexpected moments in home rooms were evidence that the Student Council was on the job. Composed of home room presidents, class presidents, and senior members-at-large, the Council met regularly throughout the year. On the agenda at each meeting was selection of Student of the Week and consideration of items from the student suggestion box.

NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

Front row, left to right: M. Blair, P. Maccabee, L. Coutermarsh, D. Wright, D. Charlton, M. Loveland, C. Sinos. Second row: L. Small, S. Frankiewicz, M. Townsend, M. Vincent, J. Wilbur, P. Canary, A. Casella, N. Reed, B. Fuchs, J. Mumford. Third row: R. Eaton, S. Looker, M. Beale, B. Burke, K. Kurdeka, D. Osgood, A. Carrara, K. Sinos, O. Johnson.

On February 15, sixteen new members were received into the National Honor Society after the other ten members chosen in 1961 had explained the four cardinal principles of the society and carried out an impressive induction ceremony. Chosen from the Class of 1962 were Mary Blair, Dorothy Charlton, Laureen Coutermarsh, Olaf Johnson, Mary Loveland, Pamela Maccabee, Joel Mumford, Leslie Small, and Judythe Wilbur.

New members from the Class of 1963 are Patricia Canary, Audrey Casella, Richard Eaton, Stephen Frankiewicz, Nathaniel Reed, Carmen Sinos, and Martha Vincent.

During the past year the ten senior members have carried out a full program of activities highlighted by the Share Project at Christmas for the Brandon Training School and sponsorship of the state National Honor Society meeting. Lesser activities were candy sales at basketball games and a rummage sale in the fall.

An innovation this year was an information booth in the main corridor to assist visitors. It was manned during all seven periods by society members and other student volunteers.

David Wright was president of the society and Mrs. Pauline Merusi, adviser.

GIRLS' AND BOYS' STATE

Front: Mary Blair. Second: Susan Looker. Third: Kathleen Kurdeka, Martha Keefe. Fourth: Katherine Sinos.

Selected by the faculty for leadership, character, interest in politics and government, scholarship, cooperativeness, and physical fitness, eleven boys and five girls represented R.H.S. at the 1961 Boys' and Girls' States. Here they gained an insight into the workings of government at the state level by organizing political parties, campaigning for office, and participating in a mock session of the legislature.

Front row, left to right: J. Foley, M. Blair, L. Coutermarsh, K. Sinos, A. Becker, S. Looker, R. Hance. Second row: B. Ladd, P. Maccabee, L. Ormsbee, M. Loveland, D. Charlton, M. Beale. Third row: D. Haigh, D. Laplant, N. Goodell, M. Flynn, J. Wilbur, B. Burke. Fourth row: O. Johnson, K. Kurdeka, M. Townsend, D. Osgood. Fifth row: D. Carbine, D. Wright, R. Bender, A. Carrara. Sixth row: J. Mumford, Head Monitor; D. Atwood, Miss Katherine Moran, Adviser; L. Small.

Ronnie at his post

Besides keeping traffic moving smoothly and maintaining order in the corridors between classes, the Monitor Squad annually sponsors one of the outstanding social events at R.H.S. This year's "Snow Ball," a semi-formal dance held just before Christmas, proved to be one of the most successful affairs ever sponsored by the Monitors.

The thirty members of the squad were chosen at the end of their junior year by vote of the faculty.

Leading the band as it comes on the football field for a half-time show or swinging down Merchants Row in a Veterans' Day parade, the maroon-clad majorettes are an eye-catching sight. R.H.S.

is proud of its majorettes, who spend many hours practicing the routines that they perform so flawlessly.

Vanguard of majorettes heralds the approach of the band.

A delicious tasting supper and a gala Valentine dance featured the activities of the G.A.A. this year. The group also sponsored basketball and softball teams. A picnic brought the year to a close.

INTERNATIONAL RELATIONS CLUB

One of the most worthwhile of R.H.S. activity groups, the International Relations Club during the past year engaged in a series of projects designed to enhance their knowledge of world problems and assist the less fortunate. An assembly in observance of United Nations Week and sponsorship of the annual U.N. examination were highlights of the year's program. The members also collected approximately one hundred dollars for refugee children through the Dag Hammerskjold Memorial Fund. Discussions and film strips at the meetings helped the members gain valuable understanding of present international problems.

Dr. Douglas Stafford served as adviser while the following officers directed the club: President, Jean Teachout; Vice-President, Susan Jehle; Secretary, Gordon Appleby; Treasurer, David Steele.

The Radio Club gives any student not enrolled in the electronics course an opportunity to use the facilities of the electronics laboratory. In addition, electronics students have a chance to do more work with radio equipment. Edward Congdon was president of the club this year.

Each year members of the Shop Council make a very important contribution to the observance of Christmas at R.H.S. by adorning the exterior of the building with beautiful decorations of their own design. Composed of representatives of the various trade classes, the Council conducts clean-up projects to stimulate neatness in the shop.

SHOP COUNCIL

Front row, left to right: S. Page, J. Shubert, B. Pratico, K. Thornton, T. Carlson, J. Lewis. Second row: P. Mayer, G. Casey, R. Holden, W. Senecal, K. Bucklin, D. Quirk, E. Congdon. Third row: R. Perkins, N. Bowen, H. Hurlburt, R. Bowen, E. Earle, R. Reed. Fourth row: R. Barker, G. Sharon, M. Earle, E. Turner.

FUTURE HOMEMAKERS OF AMERICA

Front row, left to right: J. Dubray, J. Horton, A. Welch, B. Ayer, C. Weeks, J. Beauchamp, D. Boudreau. Second row: E. Jones, C. Murray, D. Barker, D. Raymond, P. Lane, L. Fredette, K. Nelson, L. Ballance. Third row: D. Bowen, B. Harvey, P. Lamb, D. Barton, J. Griswold, S. White. Fourth row: L. Hill, F. Fuller, Mrs. Helen Sloan, Adviser; E. Cox, P. Shackett, A. Wilkinson.

Girls enrolled in homemaking courses who wish to utilize their skills more fully join the F.H.A., which affords them an opportunity to engage in homemaking projects. On the agenda this past year were the redecoration of the men's faculty lounge, and preparation of the National Honor Society and Disabled American Veterans banquets, the latter given for honor roll students after the first marking period. Members also filled a Christmas basket for a needy family.

Officers were President, Brenda Ayer; Vice-President, Arlie Welch; Secretary, Judith Beauchamp; Treasurer, Carol Weeks.

Front row, left to right: S. Moran, P. Spaulding, J. Wilbur, S. Bersaw, C. Chase, D. Paul, S. Burke, M. Flynn, S. Jehle. Second row: G. Williams, P. Maccabee, H. Russell, G. Roberts, M. Holden, C. Bell, N. Cook, P. Canary, C. Ellison, B. LaVecchia, L. Ordway, E. Weeks, M. Loveland, S. Kent, J. Morgan. Third row: B. Smith, M. Thomas, D. Barton, C. Ravenna, S. Severn, M. Denman, D. Apple, G. Appleby, C. Phelps, J. Hill, D. Arnold, M. Blair, J. Crowley, V. Barber, K. Abernethy, F. Sharp.

The first act of Tomorrow the World, a tense drama of the second world war period, presented before a student audience in February was the highlight of the Mimes program for 1961-62.

Portraying their difficult roles with professional skill were Gordon Appleby, Sharon Moran, Susan Jehle, Mary Blair, and Carol Chase. Gareth Williams was outstanding in the part of a German youth indoctrinated with Nazi fanaticism.

A comedy to be presented in April will give the members an opportunity to display their talents in a lighter medium.

Carol Chase was president of Mimes and Mrs. Elizabeth Greene, faculty adviser.

FRENCH CLUB

Front row, left to right: P. Canary, G. Roberts, O. Johnson, J. Duby, C. Chase. Second row: B. Alley, D. Dashner, M. Vargas, B. LaVecchia, P. Maccabee. Third row: S. Looker, M. Townsend, P. Ward, D. MacDonald. Fourth row: M. Woods, C. Bell, M. L. Robinson, R. Schill. Fifth row: S. Jehle, C. Throop, B. Wolk, M. Loveland. Sixth row: S. Chaffee, G. Appleby, R. Kelleway, S. McLeod.

Le Cercle Francais, now in its third year, has continued to attract those students who wish to increase their knowledge of the French language and culture. The informal meetings conducted entirely in French have featured such activities as songs, games, play-lets, and cross word puzzles.

Mrs. Helen Mangan is adviser to the group, whose officers are President, Olaf Johnson; Vice-President, Richard Kelleway; Secetaire, Susan Jehle; Tresoriere, Patricia Canary.

Key Club Queen

KEY CLUB

A live-wire organization of senior, junior, and sophomore boys, the Rutland High Key Club carried out a full schedule of school and community activities. Among these were a survey for the Urban Renewal Project, assistance in the construction of the Bicentennial Village, and sponsorship of a Key Club scholarship. To raise funds for this scholarship, the group sponsored several dances.

To stimulate interest in one of these dances held in the fall, the club conducted a queen contest. Alicia Wisell, a sophomore, received the highest number of votes.

Front row, left to right: R. Hance, R. Eaton, N. Hebert, J. Salander. Second row: D. Morse, C. Shortle, J. Griswold, L. Kurdeka, J. Carrara, R. Perkins. Third row: M. Earle, G. Sharon, D. Chase, D. Gilman, R. Gonyea, R. Reed. Fourth row: Trombley, E. Trombley, S. Frankiewicz, M. Wilmott, Mr. Charles Lull, Adviser. Fifth row: R. Spencer, R. Bender, P. Vincent, K. Thornton.

A newcomer on the extracurricular scene at Rutland High School, the Varsity Club, composed of varsity lettermen, has made its presence known by carrying out a program of worthwhile activities. Its members have handled the crowds and otherwise assisted at home basketball games, sold sweatshirts to the student body, and co-sponsored the annual Freshman-Sophomore tournament directed by Mr. Keefe. Nelson Hebert, who initiated the idea for the club and was most active in its formation, served as president. Mr. Lull was faculty adviser.

SPORTS

FOOTBALL

Rutland High School ended a fairly successful football season with a record of four wins and four losses. The most damaging blow was suffered at the hands of M.S.J., Rutland's crosstown rival. Although spirits ran high and the support of the student body was good, the Raiders went down to a 41-7 defeat.

The Redmen, however, in spite of numerous injuries, dealt defeat to several traditional rivals. They overwhelmed Burlington by a 32-0 score and eased by Springfield 20-19.

The big news to players and fans alike came at the end of the season when Coach Lloyd "Dido" Flaitz announced his retirement after twenty-five years as Rutland mentor. Former assistant coach "Joe" Teta has been appointed his successor.

GOLF

The Rutland High golf team, coached by Mr. Charles Pielock, went to the state high school golf meet, last fall. They did not place in the meet, however, although Rick Chaffee and Joe Foley showed up well.

CROSS COUNTRY

Captained by John Carrara and coached by Mr. Hugh Short, the cross-country team showed up well in all their meets this season. They compiled an overall record of five wins and four losses in interscholastic meets.

The Rutland harriers placed tenth in the state meet, as Dennis Eells came through with a thrilling seventh place finish.

SKIING

The Rutland High ski team, coached by Mr. Albert "Monk" Martin, had an excellent season, placing well in four interscholastic meets.

Paced by Harry "Rebel" Ryan and Rick Chaffee, the Raider skiers placed in both the district and state meets, enabling them to travel to the New England meet where they placed eighth in the overall standings.

IN APPRECIATION

The completion of any school yearbook requires the thought and application of many students, faculty members, and professional people. Some of these who contribute much time and effort receive little recognition. The students on the Business Board, who work diligently raising funds for the publication of the Talisman, are examples of these unsung heroes. The Editorial Staff wishes to express its thanks to this staff for a job well done.

The editors would like also to thank the following persons or groups who have helped in many ways:

Mrs. Katherine Hinchey, the editorial adviser
 Mr. Lewis McKerley, adviser to the business board
 Miss Lucy Doane, consultant to the art staff
 Mr. Aldo Merusi, for group and special events photography
 Mr. John Martin, for candid photography
 The entire staff, for cooperation and diligent effort
 The patrons, for their generous response
 The advertisers for wholehearted financial support
